

Basic Preschool Ages 3-6 Protocols for Prevention Populations

Agendas and Checklists for Each Session

- 1. Sessions One through Fourteen
- 2. Checklist for Each Session

NOTE: These agendas and checklists are the minimum number of sessions to be provided, and only for prevention populations. Please refer to the 18–20 week protocols for high-risk and treatment populations. See note on next page.

Tailoring the Incredible Years BASIC Parenting Programs for Parents of Children (3-6 years)

Prevention Protocol

If the group leader is offering the program as a prevention program to parents of children without behavior problems, the program may be completed in 14 sessions. However, if the program is being offered as a treatment program to parents of diagnosed children with Attention Hyperactivity Deficit Disorder (ADHD) or Oppositional Defiant Disorder, it will be important to include the added sessions on persistence, emotion and social coaching. In addition, for parents from socioeconomically disadvantaged backgrounds leaders will want to use the 20-week session protocol with the emphasis on academic, social and emotional coaching. Leaders may also want to consider adding some sessions from the School Readiness series on interactive reading to promote reading readiness.

Selecting Vignettes to Discuss

Leaders will see that the asterisk (*) on the checklist refers to the recommended vignettes to be shown to every group. However, group leaders will need to be very familiar with ALL of the vignettes so that they can select additional vignettes, when necessary, that are relevant to the needs of the group.

NOTE: For example, vignettes representing different cultures should be shown to more culturally diverse populations. Or, other vignettes may be selected for parents whose goals indicate they want specific help with such things as toilet training, bathing, meal time, bedtime, grocery shopping, or sibling difficulties. Or, additional vignettes can be shown regarding social and emotional coaching, proactive discipline, or problem solving if children are experiencing developmental or language delays or difficulty with oppositional aggressive behavior.

Agendas and Checklists for Each Session (Children ages 3-6)

The content covered in each session needs to be paced according to each parent group's particular needs for discussion and content, level of participation, and prior familiarity with the parenting concepts. In general, we suggest that you try to cover 7–9 vignettes per two-hour session. You do not want to try to complete one entire topic (e.g., Play part 1) in one session. Rather, try to cover at least half of a particular topic in a session and give out the home practice activities. The subsequent session is used to troubleshoot any questions or problems and to show the remaining vignettes on that topic as a review.

For children with diagnosis (e.g., ADHD, Oppositional Defiant Disorder) and for high-risk populations (child welfare populations or populations unfamiliar with content) we highly recommend the protocols for completing the program in 18–20, 2 to 2½-hour weekly sessions. We have listed the key vignettes to show in each session. We have omitted some vignettes.

For preventive populations it may be possible to deliver this program in 14 sessions. However, if parents are having difficulty with a particular topic, leaders are encouraged to show more vignettes from a particular program. If you do not complete all the required vignettes in a session, you can continue showing them in the next session. Try to give yourself the option of adding 1–2 sessions if needed for larger groups or those who need more time to practice and discuss more vignettes.

Introductions, Goals and Part 1: Child-Directed Play

I. Welcome

Greet each parent.

Leaders introduce themselves.

Review agenda for session.

II. Ground Rules

Ask for parent ideas on group rules and why they think they are important.

(confidentiality, respect for others, being positive, right to pass, equal time to talk)

Adopt rules for group.

Post rules each week. (A sample poster of rules is in appendix.)

III. Introductions

Parents introduce themselves and give names, ages of children, and personal goals.

Have each parent describe what their child is like.

Buzz—parents’ goals. Write on flip chart so you and group can refer back to them.

(Parents write their goals in the “Parents Thinking Like Scientists” handout.)

Leader draws out themes related to parents who have children with particular problems such as ADHD or developmental issues.

IV. Program Goals and Topics

Give an overview of the program, its general goals, topics and format. (Show introductory narration.)

Talk about the developmental milestones of children ages 3-6 years.

Refer to the pyramid poster and explain how topics address their goals.

Give one book (The Incredible Years) and a magnet to each family. Offer CD as option.

V. Topic of Day: Child-Directed Play—Value of Attention

A. Brainstorm benefits to parent/child play

B. Vignettes: Play Part 1: 1-9

C. Buzz—share encouraging words to use when child says, “I can’t do it.”

Key Concepts:

- Value of showing attention and appreciation as a way of increasing children’s self-esteem—“Attention Principle”
- Adjusting to children’s temperament and activity level
- Understanding the value of child-directed play and how it promotes children’s self-confidence
- Appreciating difficulties of playing with inattentive and active children

D. Role Plays/Practice

Role play (leader [as child] and parent) that demonstrates parent following child's lead. First give lots of direction, then replay being an "appreciative audience."

If time, divide group into sets of 3. Within each small group, give each parent a 2- to 3-minute time to be the child, parent and the observer.

E. Summarize Key Points (Refrigerator Notes).

VI. Review Home Activities

Pass out home practice forms.

Read aloud and make sure parents understand the home activities. Encourage each parent to practice and do the reading or listen to the CD.

Ask them to make a commitment to their goals for the week on their Self-Monitoring Checklist.

VII. Parent Evaluation

Remind parents of the importance of parent feedback for the group leader and the entire program.

Collect evaluation forms before parents leave.

VIII. Closing

Take this time to formally close the group. You may need to recap the learning.

Thank parents for coming; praise their willingness to explore and try new ways of parenting.

Remind them of any details they need to know for the next session.

Child-Directed Play Promotes Positive Relationships

I. Welcome

Reengage families.

II. Ground Rules

Ask one or two people in group to review the ground rules and explain why they are helpful.

III. Report on Home Activities

Ask members to share their experiences with play (positive, difficult, and/or successful).

IV. Topic of Day: Child-Directed Play

- A. Barriers to play time with children. Talk about ways to overcome barriers.
- B. Vignettes: Play Part 1: 12–29.

Key Concepts:

- Understanding the value of child-directed play for children’s learning
- Positive adult attention builds your child’s bank account relationship
- The “attention rule”—the principles of attending to positive behavior and ignoring negative behavior results in increased positive social behaviors in child
- The “ignoring” skill—not giving eye contact or verbal attention to annoying behaviors, a deliberate action for certain misbehaviors
- The modeling principle—by parents avoiding the use of critical statements and demands and substituting positive polite language, children learn more positive communication and respect parents
- Understanding how to pace play at child’s developmental level
- Learning about normal developmental milestones and having realistic expectations

- C. Practice/Role Play—(large group)
One parent acts as child, and another parent demonstrates child-directed play.
- D. Break out into triads to practice.
- E. Buzz—play activities.
- F. Practice/Role Play: Ending Play—Vignette 29

I. Welcome

II. Review Ground Rules and Agenda

III. Report on Home Activities

Ask members to share their experiences with play (positive, difficult, and/or successful).

Discuss difficulties of using child-directed play concepts with inattentive children.

Buzz—findings from temperament questionnaires.

IV. Topic of Day: Descriptive Commenting and Academic Coaching

A. Vignettes: Play Part 2: 1-28 (academic)

B. Buzz—encouraging words to promote child’s self-confidence.

C. Buzz—behaviors, actions, and objects parents can describe.

Key Concepts:

- Descriptive commenting promotes children’s language skills and builds children’s self-confidence
- Academic coaching increases children’s school readiness
- The “attention rule”—the principle of paying attention to positive behavior and ignoring negative behavior results in increased positive social behaviors in the child
- The “modeling principle”—by parents avoiding the use of critical statements and demands and substituting positive polite language, children learn more positive communication
- Understanding children’s developmental drive for independence

D. Practice/Role Play (large group)

Group role play being an “academic coach.” One parent turns chair around so cannot see action. One parent is the child playing alone with toys. All the other parents practice descriptive commenting.

V. 2nd Topic of Day: Persistence Coaching

A. Explain “teaching loop” (Vignette 17).

B. Vignettes: Play Part 2: 18-28

Key Concepts:

- Academic and persistence coaching to increase children’s ability to focus (thinking, planning, concentrating)
- The “attention rule”—the principle of paying attention to positive behavior and ignoring negative behavior results in increased positive social behaviors in the child
- The “modeling principle”—by parents avoiding the use of critical statements and demands and substituting positive polite language, children learn more positive communication

- C. Practice/Role Play (large group)
Brainstorm persistence words. In large group, demonstrate “persistence coaching.”
- D. Break up into triads to practice academic and persistence coaching (use puzzles or mazes). One parent is child, one is parent and one “observer.” Practice using academic and persistence coaching. (Use coaching handout.) Have props (unstructured toys) on hand.
- E. Demonstrate and practice interactive reading skills (Vignette 28).

VI. Review Home Activities

Summarize key points (Refrigerator Notes).

Discuss importance of continuing to play with their children.

Introduce and assign “buddies”—calling another parent to share a play experience.

Explain “field assignment.”

Do self-monitoring goal setting.

IV. Review

Complete Play Part 2 vignettes. Recap “persistence coaching.”

V. Topic of Day: Emotion Coaching

A. Discussion on how adult coaching can promote emotional competence.

B. Vignettes: Play Part 3: 1-3, Summary

Key Concepts: Emotion Coaching

- Emotion language promotes children’s emotional literacy
- Combining persistence coaching with emotion coaching strengthens child’s self-regulation skills
- Positive adult attention builds your child’s bank account
- Learning how to prompt and model emotion language

C. Practice/Role Play (large group)

After brainstorming emotion words, practice emotion coaching in front of group

VI. 2nd Topic of Day: “Social and Emotion Coaching”

A. Discussion on how adult coaching can promote social competence.

B. Vignettes: Play Part 3: 4-20, Summary

Key Concepts: Social Coaching

- Social coaching, one-on-one, builds child’s social skills and self-regulation skills
- Know how to engage in fantasy play to promote social skills and perspective taking
- Extend the idea to help parents understand how they can coach several children in positive peer interactions
- Understanding how to model, prompt, and praise social skills

C. Brainstorm or Buzz—social behaviors parents want to encourage.

- D. Role Play/Practice—"One-on-one" parent-child play
Practice in front of group social and emotion coaching (after brainstorming social behaviors).
- E. Divide into groups of 3 to practice. One parent acts as child, one as parent, and one as "observer." Practice social and emotion coaching. (Use social and emotion coaching handout.)
- F. Role Play/Practice—Peer social coaching
Practice in front of group with two parents playing two children and one parent coaching social skills.
- G. Divide into groups of 4 to practice coaching several children. Ask children to be in levels 2 or 3 developmental phase. (Use levels handout.)
- H. Buzz—social coaching during mealtimes.

II. Review Ground Rules and Agenda

III. Report on Home Activities

Buzz—experiences with social and emotion coaching.

Ask what they decided to do for “field assignment.”

Talk about what parents discovered from their social and emotion coaching (and praise record sheet, if given out).

IV. Topic of Day: Effective Praise—“Bringing Out the Best in Your Child”

- A. Do benefits and barriers exercise regarding praise.
- B. Vignettes: Praise Part 1: 1-18
- C. Buzz—mealtime behaviors to praise (after vignette 3).
- D. Replay Vignettes 12, 13, 14 and 15.

Key Concepts:

- Labeling praise
- “Give to Get” principle—for adults and children
- Modeling self-praise
- Resistance to praise—the difficulties from self and others to accept praise
- Promoting positive self-talk
- Using specific encouraging statements versus nonspecific
- Getting and giving support through praise
- Avoiding praising only perfection
- Recognizing social and academic behaviors that need praise
- Building children’s self-esteem through praise and encouragement
- Understanding “proximal praise” and “differential attention”

F. Buzz—independent behaviors to praise (after vignettes 4 and 7).

G. Buzz—list of behaviors “to see more of” (see handout) and write “labeled praise” statements. Write on Piggy Bank handout sheet.

Effective Ways to Praise and Using Tangible Rewards to Teach Your Child New Behaviors

I. Welcome

II. Review Ground Rules and Agenda

III. Report on Home Activities

Ask about any difficulties increasing praise statements during the week.

Ask about the buddy calls and chapters.

Review group list of behaviors they want to see more of.

Discuss praising self, teachers, partners, in-laws.

IV. Topic of Day: Praise Cont'd

- A. Vignettes: Praise Part 1: complete anything not covered in prior session.
- B. Buzz—praise buddy.
- C. Buzz—self-praise.
- D. Buzz—"positive opposites." (optional)
- E. Practice proximal praise.

V. Topic of Day: Tangible Rewards—"Motivating Your Children"

- A. Vignettes: Tangible Rewards Part 2: 1- 19
- B. Buzz—surprise rewards and no-cost and low-cost rewards.
- C. Buzz—with buddy, plan sticker chart and practice explaining a sticker chart.

Key Concepts: Tangible Rewards

- Shaping behaviors in the direction you want—"small steps toward goal"
- Clearly identifying positive behavior
- Rewards are a tangible marker to help children with ADHD see their progress
- What will reinforce one child will not necessarily reinforce another
- Importance of reinforcing/refueling yourself, teachers, and others
- Value of spontaneous rewards and celebrations
- Recognizing "First-Then Principle"
- Understanding importance of combining praise with incentives and how to gradually withdraw incentives
- Designing programs that are realistic and developmentally appropriate
- Understanding how to set up programs for problems such as dressing, compliance, going to bed, and toilet training
- Understanding the difference between rewards and bribes
- Understanding how to respond to children who reject praise
- Learning how to gradually withdraw incentives

- D. Role Play/Practice “When–Then” (Vignette 3)
- E. Practice responding to a child who fails to earn a reward.

VI. Review Home Activities

In addition to explaining the handouts, encourage parents to praise themselves and others by providing an opportunity for them to do it in class (e.g., a note to teacher could be written in group or share with buddy one self-care or pleasurable activity each parent could do for themselves in the next week).

Remind parents to bring in their sticker charts next week.

Be sure to give out charts and stickers to parents.

Assign new “buddies.”

Do self-monitoring goal setting.

Program Three: Positive Discipline Outline-Session Seven

Part 1: Establishing Routines and Household Rules

I. Welcome

II. Review Ground Rules and Agenda

III. Report on Home Activities

Discuss sticker chart systems and personal experiences.

Ask parents to share any experiences with praise (of other and self or calling teacher).

Ask about field assignments (class visit or library visit).

IV. Topic of Day: Establishing Routines and Household Rules

- A. Explain that at this meeting, the focus of the class shifts to learning how to decrease inappropriate behaviors while continuing to attend to the positive, appropriate behaviors. (Show pyramid to explain progression.)
- B. Buzz—benefits of routines for young children.
- C. Discuss barriers to routines.
- D. Vignettes: Part 1: 1-9

Key Concepts:

- Importance of routines and predictable schedules for children
- Clear and predictable household rules offer children safety and reduce misbehaviors
- Establishing clear and predictable routines for separating from children and greeting children
- Starting children learning about family chores
- Helping children learn family rules

E. Practice/Role play—steps for saying “good-bye” to child at preschool.

F. Buzz—bedtime or morning routine.

G. Buzz—household rules and chores.

IV. Review Home Activities

Summarize key points (Re Refrigerator Notes).

In addition to explaining the handouts, encourage parents to refuel themselves with a reward. Piggy bank might be used to ask parents to put in a coin that reflects a self-care or pleasurable activity they could do for themselves.

In addition to explaining the handouts, remind them to bring back household rules and to share with buddy when they make their call.

Do self-monitoring goal setting.

II. Review Ground Rules and Agenda

III. Report on Home Activities

Discuss morning and bedtime routines.

Ask parents to share any experiences with separating from children.

Ask about explaining household rules to children.

IV. Topic of Day: Effective Limit Setting—“The Importance of Being Clear, Predictable and Positive”

- A. Discuss benefits and barriers to limit setting.
Ask parents how many commands they think they give to their children in 30 minutes.
- B. Vignettes: Limit Setting Part 2: 1-15

Key Concepts:

- Reduce number of commands to only necessary commands
- Politeness principle
- Clear and predictable household rules offer children safety and reduce misbehaviors
- Normal, healthy children will test rules—don’t take it personally
- Commands should be clear, brief, positive, and action oriented
- “When-Then” commands offer child a choice
- Distractible children need warnings and reminders and help with transitions

- C. Practice/Role Play: dinner table scene focusing on reducing commands, giving choices, and ignoring protests (after Vignette 8).
- D. Buzz—share strategies for helping with transitions (after Vignette 11).
- E. Brainstorm—“when-then” commands.

I. Welcome

II. Review Ground Rules and Agenda

III. Report on Home Activities

Ask parents about what they learned from their observations of their commands—frequency, type of commands.

Ask parents about efforts to reduce commands and give positive commands and child reactions.

IV. Topic of Day: Follow Through With Limit Setting

- A. Discussion—From the list of behaviors they want to see less of, establish the opposite positive behavior they can reinforce with attention and praise.
- B. Vignettes: Program 3—Limit Setting Part 2: Vignettes 16–36
Program 4—Handling Misbehavior Vignettes Part 1: 1–13

Key Concepts:

- Reduce number of commands to only necessary commands
- Politeness principle
- Clear and predictable household rules offer children safety and reduce misbehaviors
- Normal, healthy children will test rules—don't take it personally
- Commands should be clear, brief, positive, and action oriented
- “When-Then” commands offer child a choice
- Distractible children need warnings and reminders and help with transitions

- C. Practice: Restate commands in Vignettes 16-20.
- D. Buzz—pair up parents with buddies and give them list of negative commands to rewrite. (Use brainstorm handout.)
- E. TV rules (if not done earlier). (Vignette 29)

Ignoring Children's Inappropriate Behavior

I. Welcome

II. Review Ground Rules and Agenda

III. Report on Home Activities

Ask parents to report on following through with commands.

Review list of behaviors they want to see less of and goals for discipline (from prior session).

IV. Topic of Day: Ignoring

- A. Brainstorm—benefits and barriers to ignore strategy.
- B. Vignettes: Program 4—Handling Misbehavior Vignettes Part 2: 1-19 (Ignoring)
- C. Buzz—behaviors (from list of behaviors want to see less of) that can be ignored (and identify positive opposite).
- D. Buzz—strategies for parents to use to stay calm.
- E. Buzz—2-3 calming thoughts.

Key Concepts:

- Understand the importance of distractions coupled with ignore
- Understand the importance of consistency and follow through by parents
- Using self-control and calm-down strategies
- Repeated learning trials—negative behavior is a signal child needs some new learning
- Use ignore technique consistently and appropriately
- Explain vending machine example of behavior that continues if there is some “pay off”
- Use ignore for selected behaviors such as whining, tantrums, arguing
- Keep filling up bank account with play, praise, and incentives
- Understand concept of “selective attention”

F. Role Play/Practice

Replay Vignette 12 ignoring and practicing positive self-talk.

G. Role Play/Practice

Time-Out to Calm Down

I. Welcome

II. Review Ground Rules and Agenda

III. Report on Home Activities

Find out group experiences in ignoring misbehavior. Practice as needed.

Review “positive opposite” behaviors being reinforced.

Ask about parents’ coping or calming strategies.

IV. Topic of Day: How to Follow Through with Limits and Rules—“Time-Out”

- A. Discussion—Time-Out is an “extended ignore” that withdraws parental attention and does not reinforce negative behavior. It is to be used for oppositional, non-compliant and destructive behaviors. It is not the only discipline strategy (will cover more in future sessions).
- B. Diagram on board (or flip chart) the Time-Out procedures and teach basic strategies.
- C. Vignettes: 1-8 (Explaining Time-Out and Calm Down to Children)
- D. Buzz—locations for Time-Out
- E. Practice explaining to children how Time-Out works and where it will be.
- F. Vignettes: Handling Misbehavior Part 3: 9-19 (for aggression)
- G. Do a role play using Time-Out for aggression.
- H. Role play basic Time-Out for aggression (Scenarios #1 and 2) (Vignettes 9-15).
- I. Role play Time-Out when child resists (Scenario #3) (Vignettes 16-19).
- J. Talk about personal Time-Out.

Key Concepts:

- Avoiding power struggles that reinforce misbehavior
- Do the positive first — praise compliance
- How to teach and practice calm-down strategies with children
- Administer Time-Out respectfully and selectively
- How to explain to children how to take Time-Out to calm down
- How to use Time-Out selectively for destructive behaviors or severe oppositional behaviors
- How to manage when a child resists Time-Out
- Helping the victim of aggression to cope with aggression
- Continuing to strengthen prosocial behaviors

V. Review Home Activities

Summarize key points.

In addition to reviewing home assignment handouts, ask them to think about a place they could use for Time-Out.

Offer the CDs as a good way to learn about Time-Out.

Encourage continuing mutual support with their buddies.

Do self-monitoring goal setting.

III. Report on Home Activities

Discuss their experiences with Time-Out and Consequences.

Review “Parents Thinking Like Scientists” handout.

IV. Topic of Day: Teaching Children to Problem Solve Through Stories and Games

A. Brainstorm advantages and disadvantages (barriers) to problem solving.

Key Concepts:

- Understanding a variety of games and stories that can be used to help children begin to learn problem-solving skills
- Appreciating the developmental nature of children’s ability to learn problem-solving skills
- Learning how to help children think about the “feeling” as well as the “behavioral” consequences to solutions proposed
- Understanding the importance of validating children’s feelings
- Avoiding “blocks” to effective problem-solving with children such as lectures, quick solutions, judgments about solutions, criticism, too many questions, or focus on “correct” solutions rather than the “process” of problem solving
- Recognizing the value of modeling solutions and problem solving for children
- Recognizing how and when to use “guided solutions” for very young children or for children who do not have positive solutions in their repertoire
- Strengthening children’s empathy skills by reversing roles and talking about another’s feelings
- Understanding ways to encourage children’s generation of solutions to problems
